The Thongophone Project

An explanation from Wikipedia ....

“A thongophone is a musical instrument classified as a percussion instrument. Playing the thongophone is somewhat rare in Western music for solo performance, but was brought to prominence by the music of Yanni and Blue Man Group, among others. Thongophones are found in rural Papua New Guinea.”

There was no definition found from the Oxford Dictionary.

Mr Roper has been getting assistance from some students to construct this fun instrument which will be installed in the playground.
